FOREWORD

The resume of the school year 1928-29 has been published for the purpose of leaving with the Seniors, under-classes and alumni, a reminder of the days spent in our high-school.

With the aid of very capable and cooperating "Blue" Staff, it has been a pleasure, "though not unmixed with pain," to compile and edit this simple book.

VIRGINIA COX, Editor-in-Chief.

FACULTY

MR. EARL L. WOOD

Superintendent of Greenwood High School. Very popular with all the students. Noted for his stick-to-itiveness

PRINCIPAL J. L. STEPHENSON

Proud possessor of beautiful red hair—one to whom we could not recommend hair tonic, as much as we would like to.

MISS ALINE T. OLDAKER

Instructor in Mathematics and Senior English. Well liked by everyone for her permanent—(we hope)—sense of humor.

MISS FLORENCE GRIEPENSTROH

Instructor in Latin and Commercial Department. Demure blonde who knows her Typing, to saying nothing of her Physical Ed.

WARD K. BARTLETT

Coach and Instructor in Manual Training. A good sport. Very popular.

MR. THOMAS D. PALMER

Instructor in English and History. Well-versed in expository talents and what-have-you.

MISS GOLDIE M. LITTLE

Instructor in Music and Art. She has produced three very successful operettas. In command of Glee Clubs. Not her fault they aren't good.

POEM

By VIRGINIA COX

I think that the Seniors are worth
More than these few paltry verses.
For I know that we shall do great things
Before we start riding in hearses.
By far, the '29 Seniors
Are rating above the best.
So listen, please, polite listener,
Lend ear while I tell you the rest.
We have the great farmer Julian
Who rides all day on a ylow—
Russell acquired a new waist line
And is a flourishing congressman now.
Junior's a whiz at dramatics
And a darb of theatre arts—
Lewis, a Ford mechanician
Who sure knows all HIS auto parts.
Marietta's our famed fortune teller
And short-story writer as well.
But about demure little Juanita
We try hard, but never can tell.
Dorothy, the short and fair-haired
Is a neat little worker at best.
Marjorie's a most capable steno
Who could pass any commercial test.
Elizabeth with her talents
Stands at the head of the class.
Gladys, so ruthless and conquering
Is really a beautiful lass.
Mary Ruth endorses cigaret ads
At a thousand dollars per;
Lucile Corrie's a house-wife—
We always thought it of her.
Edna and Lottie and Stella Mae
Shall minister to the sick.
And when the voice of duty calls
They'll answer sure and quick.
Karl's another good classmate
Whom we regret to leave behind.
But the wider realms, than those we see
In the present, I hope we'll find.
Last but not least is Virginia
Whose future is not yet fated.
As for the rest of the exclusive cast
Their stories I've already related.
A glorious class they were—they are!
A class who can rise, if they should fall.
So here's to the best of comrades and pals—
The '29 Senior—a toast to you all.

OUR LAST WILL and TESTAMENT

We, the class of 1929, being of sound mind and memory do make, publish and declare this our last will and testament. It must be understood that whoever disputes or tries in any way to change this document must be cut off entirely from any of its possessions. We, the class as a whole, do will and bequeath the following items:

To Miss Griepenstroh, we leave all the scrap paper that can be found.

To Mr. Palmer, a book called "Training Your Voice for Public Speaking."

To Mr. Stephenson, a package of Golden Glint.

To Miss Oldaker, we leave another pair of rubbers to take the place of those she wore out carrying to school on cloudy days.

We, the individuals, leave our personal goods as follows:

I. Russell Lasiter, my popularity with all the girls to Freddie Hines.

I, Stella Mae Bishop, my dignified air to Hettie Louise Van Ness.

I, Lucille Corrie, my friendliness to Geneva Hamilton.

I. Edna Stevenson, my afternoon nap to any Junior that can get by with it.

I, Lewis Sheek, my ability to play basketball to Robert Weaver.

I, Dorothy Howell, my ability to get the lead in all the plays and operettas to Minnie Alice Kelly.

I, Lottie Smock, my charming personality to Martha Stephenson.

I, Marietta Bailey, my ability to understand Economics to some unfortunate Junior taking it next year.

I, Virginia Cox, my skill at getting invitations to the fraternity dances to Ruth Smock.

I, Juanita Gillum, my ability to make the honor roll every month to Hazel Coons.

I, Jeanne Hines, my popularity with Franklin boys to Helen Foreback.

I, Byron Jordan, my acquired Southern Brogue to John William Bishop.

I, Julian Wiley my skill as a dancer to Herbert Whitaker.

I, Marjorie Threlkeld superb quantity of IT to Gertrude Medema.

I, Elizabeth Myers, my skill at playing the piano to Lucille Crawford.

I, Mary Ruth Edrington, my good sportsmanship to any one who wants it.

I, Gladys Morris, my extra scholarship to summer school to some Freshman.

Duly witnessed, signed and sealed on this twenty-fourth day of May, in the year of Our Lord, Nineteen hundred and twenty-nine in the presence of Dick Brewer, Robert Weaver and John Fix.

MARIETTA BAILEY,
Senior 1929.

CLASS HISTORY

By DOROTHY HOWELL

In the fall of 1917 forty youngsters entered the first grade. During the rest of the grades several students dropped out and when we were ready to enter High School there were just twenty-two of us.

With fall, came a new thrill in our young lives. A thrill none of us will probably ever forget. We were "Freshmen."

Now we could look down at the youngsters in the grades. Freshmen, yes, I suppose that we were just as "fresh" a group as entered G. H. S., but we soon realized that the other classes did not appreciate our "freshness" so we settled down to regular school routine. Dorothy Howell was President that year, Wm. Hamilton Vice President, George Sheek Secretary, and Genevie Shadley treasurer.

It was this same year that Mr. Hoover left us. But never shall his kindness and thoughtfulness be forgotten by the students.

Everyone was glad more or less when our Sophomore year came, for now the thought of being called a Freshman was over. This year we had several new teachers. Mr. Wiley became Superintendent, Mr. Earl L. Wood, Principal. Our teachers were Mr. Palmer, Mr. Bartlett, Miss Oldaker, Miss Hougham, Miss Little and Mrs. Bailey. Miss Wishard did not come back that year.

Junior Jordan became our class president this year, William Rhem, Vice President, Lewis Sheek, Secretary, and Stella Mae Bishop, Treasurer. With class parties and other entertainments we were about to leave our Sophomore year.

Finally we were Juniors, now we were just waiting for the day to move into the new school building. The day came at last. That was the most exciting of our Junior year. Elizabeth Myers was elected President of our class this year, Virginia Cox, Vice President, Dorothy Howell, Secretary, and Junior Jordan Treasurer.

Miss Oldaker left us this year, and Mrs. Endaly took her place but left in six weeks, however Mr. Stephenson stepped in as Geometry teacher, and has been with us ever since.

In the fall we became Seniors but not very dignified, and the class of '29 was about to end their great war. We cannot show enough appreciation to the ones who have helped us through High School, but we certainly appreciate the wonderful things the teachers have done for us. Miss Oldaker came back to us this year, because the Seniors felt like they couldn't graduate without her.

Junior Jordan became president in the Senior year. Russell Laster, Vice President and Marjorie Threlkeld Secretary and Treasurer. Two of our former classmates, Wm. Rhem and George Sheek are graduating from other schools this year.

One of our best parties we ever had was a Hallowe'en party this year at the home of Lewis Sheek, where most of them were. Virginia Cox and Lewis were held responsible for the good times that night.

We are just about to reach our goal which we have strived to reach and with the many good times our class has had it is hard to leave old G. H. S. but the time always comes when you must leave, so here's a word to

Each and everyone of them comrades all are mine—
Don't you wish you might graduate with the class of '29?

VALEDICTORY

By JULIAN WILEY

Ever since the dawn of history it has been an accepted law that all things save eternity itself must eventually come to an end. However, an equally unchangeable law of modern science adds a meaning of which the ancient law failed to conceive. This is the accepted fact that nothing which apparently ends, really passes out of existence, but merely resolves itself into some other form, often more useful than the previous one. Most fuels are practically useless to man until they are destroyed and their heat and power units made available for use.

Thus the ending of our high school days takes on a new light. While graduation is in one sense an ending, through its influence we are made more useful to the world.

Graduation marks the end of our high school experience, but in reality it is only a milestone on the road upward. By our high school training we are enabled to face them with greater capabilities and a higher hope for success. High school days are over, but they have helped to point the way to higher goal of achievement.

As a class, we are one of the many groups of students who have received diplomas from Greenwood High School, and are only one of countless numbers of graduating classes yet to come. While we have been striving to measure up to the standard set by previous classes, let us hope that in the eyes of future graduates our example may not suffer in comparison with those of the classes which have gone before us.

Before we take our departure from the familiar scenes and friends of our school days, it seems most fitting to express our appreciation of the untiring efforts of the faculty to assist us in getting all possible good out of high school work. Without exception they have been ready and willing to cooperate with us in every way possible, and have done much to smooth out the rough places in our path.

To our schoolmates we express the hope that they will continue toward the goal for which we ourselves have so lately been working, that of graduation. To the classes who will in later years fill the place which we as the present graduating class now hold, we express our sincere good will in the wish that they may enjoy and profit from their high school experience as much as we have done.

At this time, at our graduation, we bid farewell to the faculty, our schoolmates, and those who have in any way assisted in making our school life a success.

And now, classmates, at the close of our high school career, we as Seniors stand at the parting of the ways. We have traveled the same long road together, in mutual helpfulness and with the same end in view. The way has not been easy, but after years of endeavor we have succeeded in attaining our first goal. From here our paths lead on upward, but in different directions. However, I feel confident that in our future walks of life we shall not lose sight of each other, and that the friendships which we have formed will continue through many years to come.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Coached by PROF. PALMER

The Dramatic Club presented "Are You a Mason," on the high school gym Jan. 10. The cast consisted of Richard Ellis, Frederick Kelly, Iliff Grass, Byron Jordan, Frank Fisher, Carl Dunn, Gertrude Medema, Hazel Martin, Virginia Cox, Dorothy Howell and Martha Stephenson.

The play was a three-act comedy, and concerned the two men, husband and father-in-law, who tried to use "Lodge Meeting" as an excuse for going out. Frederick Kelly as Mr. Bloodgood was excellent, and was well supported by Martha Stephenson as his wife. Gertrude Medema and Iliff Grass as Mr. and Mrs. Perry did some very good acting, while Dorothy Howell and Byron Jordan, and Hazel Martin and Frank Fisher evinced the love-interest of the play. Richard Ellis as Mr. Travers, portrayed the part of a former actor very thoroughly, as did Virginia Cox as the typical Irish Maid.

--OPERETTA--

"Love Pirates of Hawaii" was the third of the three successful operettas produced by G. H. S. Glee Clubs under the supervision of Miss Little. Dorothy Howell, Gertrude Medema, Byron Jordon and Frederick Kelly had the leading parts, and Martha Tinkle, Martha Stephenson, Doris Fendley and Hazel Martin did special song-work in the chorus.

The operetta was presented to a full house, and cleared a neat sum.

—JUNIOR AND SENIOR CLASS PLAY —

On May 15, the "Patsy" was presented to a full house in the high school gym. The play was coached by Hamilton Clarke, former resident of Greenwood, now student at Butler and member of the Little Theatre group. Elizabeth Brewer, '30, took the leading part, "Patsy," and carried it off in excellent style. Dorothy Howell, '29, played the part of Patsy's sister, Grace, quite well, and Elizabeth Myers did justice to her role as the mother. Mary R. Edringon was Sadie.

Forest Fendley displayed quite a bit of talent as "Pop," as did Penny Jordan as "Billy Caldwell."

The rest of the cast, all Seniors, were Julian Wiley as a taxi driver, Junior Jordan as "Tony," and Russell Lasiter as "O'Flarity." All three did quite well, and as a whole, the entire cast deserves praise.

JOKES

Robert Weaver: How would you like to be buried in a vault?
Robert Murray: I'd die first.

Garageman: Check your oil?
Clyde: No, I'll take it with me.

Martha Stephenson: Well, how did you find the orchestra?
Iliff: Paul Whiteman stepped aside and there it was.

Penny: Some one took me for Doug Fairbanks today.
Herman: How's that?

Penny: I gave my seat to a lady on the street car today; she said, "Don Q."

John Fix: Dad, I did pretty well in the relay events.
Mr. Fix: That's fine, son! Well, make use to your talents. Your mother will soon be ready to relay the carpets.

Geneva: What keeps the moon from falling.
Jean: I guess it must be the beams.

Dick Ellis: What would you do if a horse fell into your bath tub?
Clyde: I'd pull the plug out.

Julian (looking in the glass at the museum): Must be Shakespeare.

"What makes Stella Mae so hard boiled?"
"She was stewed too long."

Elizabeth Myers: Am I too late for garbage?
Garbage Man: No, Ma'm; jump right in.

Boy Friend: May I hold your hand?
Lottie: It isn't heavy; I can manage, thank you.

Edna: Where are you going?
Russell: Trying to find where them pigeons live.
Edna: What for?
Russell: Want some holes for my desk.

Mary Ruth: What did you get on the examination?
Marjorie: Zero, but that's nothing for me.

Lucile Crawford (in 25 years from now): Has the canary had its bath?

The Maid: Yes, he has, ma'm. You can come in now.

Cop: Haven't I seen you some where?
James Collins: No, I've never been anywhere.

He: Honestly, honey, you're the first girl I ever loved.
Lucile Corrie: Gosh, you must think I don't realize it.

Prof: If you want to go over big, you must sing louder.
Dorothy: I'm singing as loud as I can.

Prof: Well, be enthusiastic! Open your mouth and throw yourself into it.

Karl: Whew, my head aches terribly.
Dentist (Absentely): Yes, yes, I'll fill it in just a moment.
